To all TC100 AGS and AGM members

Call for Members, TC100 AGS Study Session 10 (Multimedia Cyber Technology)

The tentative leader of TC100 AGS SS10 (Multimedia Cyber Technology) invites interested parties to join TC100 AGS SS10 to present and discuss standardization opportunities related to Multimedia Cyber Technology including IoT and CPS that are within the scope of IEC TC100. Though the opportunity to join will remain open, the Call for Members closes on 2016-xx-xx. TC100 AGS and AGM members are encouraged to nominate anyone who is interested in contributing to this new Study Session activity, including himself/herself.

Background

In the past TC100/AGS 38th meeting held in Minsk, Mr. Junichi Yoshio introduced Extension to IEC 61998 - TC 100 positions to Internet application, that pointed that IEC 61998, Model and Framework for Standardization in Multimedia Equipment and Systems, has already described the cyber world application and the current some CE product with Internet service are starting to use cyber world application. On the other hand, TC 100 has only a few standards regarding this cyber world application. This situation and importance were understood by AGS, so AGS chair recommended to establish Study Session 10 to study this topic.

Call for Members

“Study Session 10 - Multimedia cyber technology” explains the cases of the multimedia cyber technology including IoT or CPS within the scope of TC 100, and proposes study items. The tentative leader Mr. Yoshio would like to invite experts who interested in discussing these study items. This call for Study Session 10 (Multimedia Cyber Technology) membership is open to any member with an IEC account who can contribute to the discussion in the Study Session 10.

To join, please contact Mr. Junichi Yoshio at jy@post.pioneer.co.jp to make your request. Please copy AGS Secretary Toshihiro Inokuchi at inokuchi.toshihiro@jp.panasonic.com.

Closing Date

The Call for Members closes on 2016-06-30.
